It is commended and receives the support of the people for his sound and wise discretion which has been manifested not only with regard to the affairs of the Central Bank of America, but also as to the other banks which were affected by the depression in business last spring and which have been re-opened and are now operating as solvent institutions.

LECT GOMPERS BY BIG MAJORITY OVER LEWIS

Secretary of the building trades department, and the International Brotherhood of Washington, were elected fraternal delegates to the British trade union congress. Peter J. Brady of New York, who was nominated, withdrew his name.

John O'Hara of Danbury, Conn., was selected as fraternal delegate to the Canadian trades and labor congress. Cincinnati, Ohio, was selected for the site of the next convention over North, Tex., by a vote of 2,482 to 1,471.

Before adjournment the convention proposed of several jurisdictional matters. The proposal to reconstitute the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers, which was suspended in December, 1919, because of jurisdictional dispute, was referred to the executive council. The council was instructed to take necessary steps to secure the reinstatement of this organization with its membership of nearly 200,000. No opposition was voiced on the convention floor against the proposal.

Related words were exchanged by President P. J. Morin of the bridge and structural iron workers and President Daniel J. Tobin of the iron workers over a jurisdictional dispute involving two unions. The iron workers contended that in certain cases the unloading of structural iron from wagons and trucks was the work of iron workers. Tobin took exception to this. The convention settled it by referring it to a conference at Indianapolis in the fall for referring it to three members of the executive council if the conference should fail.

Recommendations of the executive council that the theatrical stage employees should not assume work of building trades in the motion picture industry was adopted with preliminary discussion. It was decided that the dispute independently within 15 days the recommendations of the committee should be made effective.

Other jurisdictional disputes referred to conferences for settlement included that of the machinists with the carpenters and plumbers. The machinists were directed to discontinue jurisdiction over the boiler makers and shipbuilders. The steam and operating engineers were told that Chicago fire engineers properly were under the jurisdiction of the fire fighters.

The factional dispute of the Oil Field Workers was placed again in the hands of Secretary Morrison and Vice President William Green, who were to continue efforts to bring a settlement.

A resolution dealing with gold and finance was referred to the executive committee.

When the convention adjourned at the convention hall was half empty.

TARIFF LAW OPERATIVE

NOGALES, Ariz., June 25.—The first shipment of cattle imported from Mexico under the new tariff law, putting a duty of 10 per cent on the animals, was brought into the United States today at San Pedro, port of Pico, according to an announcement by Harry Warner, deputy collector of customs for the district of Arizona.

There were 1,910 head of yearlings in the shipment and the duty amounted to $4,000.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

TOKIO, June 25.—Newspaper articles assert Japan is negotiating with the Far Eastern republic with a view to withdrawing Japanese troops from Siberia at the first suitable opportunity. The Nichi Nichi says part of the Japanese troops will be withdrawn about October 1.

NATIONAL LEAGUE UMPIRES TO END ORGY OF HITTING

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, June 25.—National league umpires have been instructed, before each game, to "rub up" in moist dirt, at least two dozen balls for that day. This inexpensive treatment for increasing a pitcher's effectiveness, adopted after experiments with several other substances, has proved best, according to President Heydier.

He declared no kicks were being received from pitchers and added that no other means would be employed to doctor balls. He had heard nothing, officially, of the use of a chalk substance in the American league games.

Several umpires, he declared, had found the soil on one or two diamonds especially effective in taking the gloss off the new balls and carried small amounts from one city to another.

The orgy of hitting is approaching an end, in the opinion of Mr. Heydier.

Predicts Passage Of Tariff Bill In House By July 20

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Passage of the tariff bill by the House by July 20 was predicted today by both Representative Mondell, Republican house leader, who conferred with President Harding and by Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee. They also agreed that the revenue bill would be taken up immediately on passage of the tariff measure and Mondell added that the special session of congress would end when the tax bill was enacted.

Representative Fordney announced that the tariff bill would be presented to the house next Saturday after Democratic committee members had been given an opportunity to consider the measure framed by the Republican members.

One Dead, Another Hurt In Plane Fall

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

BALTIMORE, Md., June 25.—One man is dead and another is in a serious condition at the Camp Meade hospital following the fall of an airplane at Logan field, Maryland, today. Lieutenant John F. Bay of Jarrettville, Md., who was making his first flight as a guardian, is dead. Private E. H. Norton, a passenger, is expected to recover, army physicians said.

The machine had barely "taken off" when it crashed. Officers said that the crash was due to atmospheric conditions.

Granted Freedom On Habeas Corpus Writ, Woman Makes Escape

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

EL PASO, Texas, June 25.—While officers debated what to do, Mrs. Ray Krupp escaped from the courthouse here today as soon as she had been released by Judge W. D. Howe of the 34th district state court after a habeas corpus hearing. New Mexico officers asked for her extradition, alleging she was a fugitive from justice.

Mrs. Krupp was arrested near Deming, N. M., on June 10, in an automobile which carried federal officers' sledge, 35 cases of liquor and two pistols. After complaint was filed in Deming, officers allowed her to be brought to El Paso where she was charged with transporting liquor.

The judge held that since the officers let Mrs. Krupp come to El Paso she was not a fugitive from justice, so as soon as the decision was made Mrs. Krupp fled, according to federal officers. She previously had made $4,000 bond on the federal charge pending here.

WITHOUT WATER

NOGALES, June 25.—The drought has so reduced the supply of water in Nogales, Sonora, opposite here, that residents of the higher section of the city are without water. As a result, boys are going about the hilly portion of the city with buckets of water, selling the liquid by the glass. The pressure is too low to force the water to the hill tops.

PLAN $2,000,000 TERMINAL

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—The Marland Refining company of Ponca City, Okla., has purchased a site and will build a $2,000,000 oil export terminal and tank field 21 miles above New Orleans, it was announced today.

FIX OPENING DATE

BELFAST, June 25.—A vice royal proclamation issued today fixed June 28 as the date for the opening of the parliament for southern Ireland.

INDICTMENT OF CHIEF OF POLICE FOLLOWS RIOT

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

TULSA, Okla., June 25.—Chief of Police John A. Gustafson of the Tulsa police department, and other members of the department were indicted today by the grand jury in connection with the recent race riots and on charges of permitting vice.

Other indictments in connection with the auto riot were returned against Ray Ward, head of the police automobile recovery department, Roy Mescham, traffic officer; E. F. Wadell, chief of police of Sand Springs, a suburb, and F. E. Williams, Sand Springs policeman.

The charges against Chief Gustafson are that he failed to enforce the prohibitory law, to suppress vice, to enforce the law against carrying firearms, to enforce the law against the theft of automobiles, that he conspired with Police Officers Ray Ward and Roy Mescham and one C. O. Brady in this regard, and that he failed to perform his duty as chief of police in suppressing rioting and looting.

Mescham is charged with being a member of the conspiracy with Gustafson, Ward and Brady to dispose of stolen automobiles.

The charge against Ward is that he, as head of the automobile bureau in the city police department, entered into the alleged automobile theft conspiracy.

The report of the grand jury found that the race trouble resulted from armed negroes, marching up town to defend Dick Rowland, a negro, from lynching; that no attempt had been made to lynch Rowland; that the negroes were responsible for the riot; that the whites who assembled at the courthouse and took part in the fighting there were not to blame.

It found that the underlying cause of the riot was the spreading of racial equality doctrine among the negroes by members of their own race.

It found that the police had not enforced the law; refused to place any blame on Sheriff William McCullough; deplored newspaper reports of the riot and called on the citizenship to demand law enforcement and competent officials.

The grand jury, in fixing the blame for the riot, declared: "We find that the race riot was the direct result of an effort by a certain group of colored men who appeared at the courthouse on the night of May 31, for the purpose of protecting one Dick Rowland, then and now in the custody of the sheriff of Tulsa county for an alleged assault upon a young white woman."

TO PLEA INSANITY

ADMITTED CLAIM FALSE

JERSEYVILLE, Ill., June 25.—A claim of $3,000 made against the estate of the late Theodore Roosevelt by Mrs. Emma Richardson Burkett of Hillside, Ill., was admitted by her to be false while she was in jail here in November, 1919, State Attorney P. M. Hamilton said today.

NEEDLESS FRETTING

Speaking of needless worries, we are reliably informed of a chap who fretted himself sick for two weeks because he had swiped an umbrella in a restaurant. He went around growing pale and kept looking over his shoulder on rainy days, fearing that the owner might pop up. After the second painful week of this sort of thing he told his wife about it and proposed to send the umbrella to the police lost department.

"What?" she screamed. "Why, you boob, this is the umbrella I bought you Christmas and here are your initials worked inside the cover!"

It had merely been traveling the rounds of fellow swipers.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

"No."

The builder rejoined the foreman and remarked with a self-satisfied air: "Now then's what you can call walls!"—Los Angeles Times.

FOR RENT—ONE HUSBAND

MRS. VINA DELMAR AND HUSBAND SHE WOULD RENT

RUSH TO RENT HUBBY AT $5000 A YEAR

By ALICE ROHE

NEW YORK, June 23.—Girls—whether you are 16 or 60—would you like to rent a husband? Have you $5,000?

Come early; the rush is on! Here's a lovely young bride who makes the offer. She wrote this as herself:

FOR RENT—One husband. Terms, $5,000 a year. Qualifications: Handsome, lovely disposition, great adaptability, stays home nights, beautiful singing voice, wonderful ball room dancer, superior education—VINA DELMAR (Mrs. Gene Delmar).

And husband is willing. Each party to the unusual proposition told me so. The unique situation is the result of that merciless economic struggle which so often besets youthful temptations and genius caught in the mazes of love's young dream.

Mrs. Delmar (nee Cariani) is just about the prettiest, cutest "little trick" we ever tripped into a Broadway manager's office. She has great brown eyes, long curling lashes, curving red lips and a lovely straight nose.

"Do you think publicity will hurt Gene's literary career?" she asked me. "Being assured that publicity was being used even in the most successful literary and theatrical circles, she consented to speak."

"I met Gene in Greenwich Village rendezvous. It was a case of love at first sight. We got married the next day."

WONDERS OF A TROPICAL SEA

The steamer slides over a perfectly flat and matchless blue sea (the Indian Ocean), crinkled slightly now and again by gentle breezes, but for days at a time as smooth as a millpond.

Porpoises play under the bow, as if making light of the laboring exotic monster whose best speed would not prevent their swimming circles around her. Flying fish rise in silver swarms before the ship to sail obliquely to port and starboard with the sun upon their wings. Vivid green snakes lie lazily upon the surface of the water like lizards upon sand. Superb silhouettes of the African coast of the Red Sea, invisible in the distance until the sun sinks behind the Sierras. Flooding, peak and canyon with flame, seem like gigantic illustrations for Dante's "Inferno."

Night after night the Southern Cross, riding majestically, resplendently, over the starboard bow, the whole dominant growing nearer, the entire galaxy of stars gaining brilliancy, the steamer forges ahead into the heart of the tropics, cradled in fire. Nowhere else in the seven seas do phosphorescent lights blaze as brilliantly as in the Indian Ocean. The sensuous surge of the water against the bow plates muffles the throb of the engines and sends radiating shafts of light into the depths. Work, duty, ambition, instructions become as unreal as figures in a half-forgotten dream.

THE ETERNAL FEMINE

"Oh," cried Mrs. Gush, "what a darling blouse! How much is this gorgeous creation?"

"Fifteen dollars, madam," was the answer.

"Fifteen dollars, and so sweet for the price," continued Mrs. Gush. "It's a dear; just exactly what I want. The color and everything just as I like it. I think I will take it, though $15."

"Pardon me, madam," said the assistant. "I have made a mistake. This is marked only $5, not $15."

"Oh, I see. Well, show me something a little better!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

SOCIALISTS REFUSE TO AFFILIATE WITH RUSS COMMUNISTS

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

DETROIT, June 25.—Refusing by 35 to 4 to affiliate with the third international of Moscow, the Socialist party today voted in its annual convention against international relations and for the next year, at least, will pursue its course alone.

The vote came after Victor Berger, Morris Hillquit, Algernon Lee and other leaders had denounced the soviet government as the murderers of the Socialists of Russia and as a "wrecking crew" bent on the destruction of Socialist parties.

The action followed three hours of heated debate, during which Chairman Hillquit threatened to clear the galleries when communists sympathizers started a demonstration.

Unlike the last two conventions, which have expressed sympathy with the bolshevik aims and sought an international relationship, this year's gathering showed scant patience with the extreme left wing.

"I want no dictatorship," Mr. Berger declared. "I have had the dictatorship of Burleson, the dictatorship of Wilson and the dictatorship of Palmer. That is all the dictatorship I want for the rest of my life."

The convention voted down all proposals for foreign affiliations, including a motion to join the "two and a half" internationale at Vienna. The extreme right not only controlled the day in the field of international relations but made a clean sweep of permanent organization, including a majority of every committee.

The communist group will renew the fight with resolutions on the dictatorship of the proletariat and the general strike. The conservative right wing, in alternative motions, propose obtaining the dictatorship by winning a majority of the voters at the polls, and oppose the calling of a general strike by any but labor organizations.

Friends of Russia numbered five on the floor today and one of these, William F. Kruse of Chicago, did not vote for the affiliation resolution because of instructions from the Cook county convention. J. Louis Engdahl, also of Chicago, and with similar instructions, voted in the affirmative.

Hillquit, ruling the convention, could not hold him to orders from his local party. The attack on the Russians reached a climax when Victor Berger of Milwaukee quoted charges made at the German Socialist convention at the last October that the soviet leaders had murdered Russian Socialists who opposed them and added that C. Zinovieff, president of the soviet communist committee of the third internationale, had never denied the accusation.

Air tight metallic coffins were first introduced in England in 1661.

"Gene is a writer, he writes lovely poems to me and wants to write other things. Of course, he couldn't support us yet on writing. It nearly kills him to have me work here."

"Oh, how I wish I could clothe you in the lovely gowns and jewels you deserve," he said.

"I know," I replied. "You would sell diamonds and rubies for me—if you had them."

"So there you are. That's how the newest solution of the man shortage and the economic shortage mutual co-operative idea came into being."

I found Gene posed Mercury-like, half way between a condensed milk can and a poem, in a room (top floor) in a theatrical boarding house, suite gave me a poem and his views.

First of all, in reply to my query, he said he was not on the stage, but he was wounded and gassed in active service at the front. He is 22. He measures up to his wife's description.

"My idea," Gene said, "is to be a perfect companion for any woman—or man. I would accompany them anywhere, perform any legitimate duty."

MADE PROFIT ON MARRIAGE

A remarkable story of how a young Hungarian made a profit of 4 million crowns (now about $7500) by speculating with his wife's dowry and then sending her and her dowry back to her father has just come to light in Budapest.

Four months ago Joseph Klein, a young merchant of Budapest of small means, married a Transylvanian girl and received with her a dowry of 2 million Rumanian lei (worth at present exchange rates about 14 cents per lei).

The bridegroom quickly changed his wife's dowry into Hungarian currency and received in exchange 14 million crowns, the crown then being quoted seven to the lei.

After the honeymoon the young husband found that his good opinion of both the Rumanian currency and of his wife had declined, and that the crown was now only five to the lei.

Mr. Klein thereupon bought back his wife's dowry for 10 million crowns and sent her and her dowry back to her father. He thus made a clear profit of 4 million crowns and is now said to be on the lookout for another wife.

This is an example of how the marriage market here has been affected by the fluctuations of exchange values. When the Hungarian crown sank very low, the value of Transylvanian, South Hungarian and Slovak girls, backed by good Rumanian lei, Jugo Slav dinars and Czechoslovakian crowns, rose considerably in the eyes of the Hungarian youths and at least as many matches were made on the exchange as in heaven.

Slowly, with the improvement of the Hungarian money, the demand for girls from the lost provinces abated and Magyar girls are again very firm in the market. Former marriages with foreign currency girls are now being cancelled for the sake of Hungarian women.

MOST PRIMITIVE RACE

The Kubus, a race still utterly savage, who inhabit the vast virgin forests of southern Rumania, have been investigated by Prof. Wilhelm Voils, the geographer of Breslau. Professor Voils found these people struggling so hard for life in the forests that they grew old at 25 and seldom reach the age of 30.

The Kubus are cut off from the outside world by the mountains along the west coast of Sumatra and vast swamps along the east coast. Between these almost impenetrable barriers they live a nomadic life, settling only near the rivers. In small scattered groups. They neither hunt nor fish, possess no arms, and few implements. Living much as the Jewelling anthropoid apes must have lived, except that they have learned to drive short pieces of wood into tree trunks to serve as sticks.

The Kubus seem to be almost alone among primitive people in possessing no burial customs. When one of their number dies they leave the body where it lies and go their way without ceremony. They possess a language with very simple vocabulary, since their ideas do not go beyond the needs of everyday life, and Professor Voils was unable to discover any religious ideas.—Living Age.
